Name of the School - Why 23rd April?

- 23 April is the day, on which the Turkish Assembly meet together for the first time during the independency war.
- Mustafa Kemal ATATÜRK, the founder of Turkish Republic, dedicated that day to children.

- Since that day, it has been celebrated as 'Children's Day' both nationally and internationally.
- In Turkey, schools organize celebrations and foreign children are invited and hosted by volunteer families.

Our aim

- To stimulate curiosity and questioning
- To help children gain social skills and ethic values such as empathy, justice, responsibility and self confidence

Our aim

- To help maintain cultural heritage such as tolerance, hospitality and folk dances
- To contribute to children for getting ready to face real life

Everything is for Children!
